Comparison: Syselec Redline v4 (3 Nov 2026) vs Bajaj Draft (10 Nov 2026)

Leave and License Agreement – Thane Office Renewal · prepared 10 November 2026

Bajaj's lawyer (Adv. Lolita) didn't revise our 3 November redline. The 10 November version goes back to Bajaj's own 24 October draft, gives way on a few points, and leaves most of our changes to comments.

Agreed, in part

1. Premises: building name "Syselec House" and PIN 400604 accepted.
2. Group companies: "with prior written consent" added. Our wording making Bajaj fully liable for them was not included.
3. Term: 3 years instead of 5. The fee table now stops in 2029.
4. Lock-in: Syselec's 5-year lock-in changed to NA. The lawyer's comment still argues the landlord should be locked in, so they want their business head's sign-off.
5. Late payment: Bajaj must get 15 days' written notice, and Syselec can terminate after 2 months of non-payment instead of 3. Our 18% interest was not accepted.
6. Mortgage: Syselec only needs to inform Bajaj 30 days ahead, not get its consent.
7. Road widening: Syselec no longer pays shifting costs. Bajaj gets at least 120 days' notice instead.
8. Extra power load: the two-week deadline is gone, and Syselec doesn't pay the higher electricity deposit.
9. Force majeure: Bajaj's notice to terminate is now 90 days, up from 30. The government-acquisition clause is struck out and the lawyer says "Ok to delete".
10. Bajaj's obligations: five of ours added: legal compliance, paying all charges on time, no structural alterations, keeping its own approvals current, and the electricity meter.

Struck out but disputed

11. Indemnities: both indemnity clauses are struck out, but the lawyer comments "Deletion not acceptable". The cap on Bajaj's liability is filled in at 3 months' fee.

Not taken up, waiting for Bajaj's business head

12. Deposit: stays at Rs. 9,24,000. Our Rs. 12,93,600 is pending.
13. Still Bajaj's original terms: rent withholding and suspension, absolute title and structural guarantees, Syselec bearing all taxes, repairs, Bajaj's renewal right, and maintenance included in the fee.
14. Rest of our redline not adopted: no fee escalation fix (the "15%… after 5%" wording is still there), no 120-day exit charge, no overstay penalty, no Thane arbitration, no equal stamp duty, no mutual confidentiality.
15. Annexure: "No document to be registered without search and title report" is back, as a comment.

Points to watch

- Clause 17(v) still refers to the deleted lock-in.
- The mortgage clause has a typo ("intimating ng").
